

Fardew Golf Club, Keighley, West Yorkshire 2002

The course is home to Fardew Golf Club, and was built in 1992 especially to tantalise the most demanding of golfers without taking up too much of their day. Over 18 holes the course is a superb 6,200 yards par 72.

For once you can relax in the beautiful wooded surroundings alongside the picturesque inland waterway, not far from the city, and return to work renewed.

Fardew golf course was the first new course to be built in Airedale for almost 100 years. Constructed to the very latest design parameters, it has greens and tees designed to withstand the rigours of continuous use even throughout winter. Ten thousand trees have been planted, and with the existing mature ones with their blossoms and fruit make Fardew a home for a diverse collection of flora and fauna.

The course is suitable for all standards of golfer – even the absolute rookie. Don't worry about how good or bad you are, everyone at Fardew understands we all have to start somewhere.

Fardew's nine hole pay and play course is two hours of sheer golfing pleasure. It won't over-tire you, but will keep you in top form.

Pro Ian Bottomley has a well stocked shop of essential golfing goodies and equipment, and usually clubs and two-seater buggies are available for hire. A quick word with Ian will give you that added advantage while playing along Fardew's superb parkland course.

Fardew has no clubhouse, but it does have changing rooms and a quick, hot or cold snack facility.
